After the Pistol "Toters."

Sheriff Brown brought up a negro from Fort Pierce Sunday, for carrying a concealed weapon. The coon it seems had already had some misunderstanding with another of his color, and, not knowing the sheriff in person, made the remark that he was "gwine to fill dat nigger wid lead." The sheriff had his man sized up and turned his back upon the coon as the latter walked towards him. Just before the negro passed the sheriff, the latter whirled around quickly and snatched a revolver which was hidden inside the coon's shirt front. The coon halloed: "Tun me a-loose," but that did not avail him any good. He will get a taste of the new law for carrying concealed weapons at the next term of court.

BASEBALL AT EAU GALLIE.

An Exciting Game Won by Titusville With a Score of 6 to 3.

The Titusville Baseball club met the Eau Gallie nine on the latter's grounds Monday, and Titusville won by a score of 6 to 3. It was a closely contested game and up to the fifth inning it was so close that neither side had an advantage. In the first, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth innings the visitors failed to score. Carlile made the first run in the second inning; Titus scored in the third; Carlile again in the fourth, and Titus, Willahan and Case in the fifth.

The Eau Gallies' score of three are credited as follows: To Cozart in the first inning, Paddison in the third and Willhite in the ninth; the others were goose eggs.

The heavy work on both sides was done by the batteries. Cozart pitched a splendid game for Eau Gallie and Paddison did fine work behind the bat. Titusville's new pitcher, Hopkins, threw most effective curves, and Titus sustained him well. Hopkins put out sixteen men at the bat; Cozart, for the Eau Gallies, struck out nine.

The heavy playing on both sides was indeed creditable to these two clubs, and both clubs realize the effectiveness of their respective batteries.

Mr. Nicholson, captain of the Melbourne club, umpired the game very satisfactorily to both sides.

The Eau Gallie nine consisted of Cozart, pitcher; Paddison, catcher; Willhite, first base; Holloway, second base; C. H. Dukes, third base; Hinman, right fielder; Jim Dukes, center fielder; Joe Dukes, short stop; Gaskins, left fielder.

The Titusville players were: Hopkins, pitcher; Titus, catcher; Willahan, first base; Carlile, second base; Fountain, third base; Linville, left fielder; Vandlandingham, right fielder; Gomph, center fielder; Case, short stop.

The new rules (1901) were used, and assisted materially in making a shorter game. The main difference in the new rules is that fouls are called strikes on the batter unless it be on the third strike, then a foul is counted as such and the batter has another chance.

The steamer Spartan came up Sunday night for the Titusville nine, leaving Monday at 5 a. m., arriving home at 11 p. m. that night, a fine run for the little steamer. About twenty-five people took in the excursion from this place. A number from Cocoa and Melbourne were also present.

Fancy Pineapple Association.

The above is the title of a league of growers in many towns, from Orlando to Avon Park, from St. Petersburg to Punta Gorda. They number today 145 members. The president is O. D. Wetherell, of Tampa; vice president, E. F. Sperry, of Orlando; secretary and treasurer, W. L. Straub, of St. Petersburg; general manager, H. P. Chenoweth, of Jacksonville.

Though more than half of the area included is in the interior of the state, yet this association is distinctly a central, south and west coast affair, as distinguished from the older east coast association. Furthermore, the members of the new association assume to raise only fancy pineapples, that is under cover, while on the east coast a very large majority of the growers raise their fruit in the open.

A study of the list of members of this new association shows that 63 growers live in Orlando, 25 in Punta Gorda, 19 in St. Petersburg, 8 in Tampa, 5 in Port Tampa, 3 in Lakeland, 2 in Alva, 2 in Avon Park, 2 in Plymouth, 2 in Jacksonville, and one each in many places, from Elgin, Ill., to Macon, Ga., and various towns in South Florida.—Times-Union and Citizen.

"Wet or Dry."

Judge Call, at circuit court chambers at Jacksonville, in the absence from the state of Judge Hocker, of the Fifth circuit, has just heard lengthy arguments in a case of "wet and dry" from Alachua county. It was the case of the state of Florida, by W. B. Lamar, attorney general, against the board of county commissioners of Alachua county, wherein an injunction was sought for to restrain the board from granting permits for licenses to sell liquor on the ground that at an election held in 1887 the county was voted "dry." This injunction was granted on the 6th inst. Now one Edwards and certain other dealers, who had filed application before the board asked to be allowed to intervene and defend, and Judge Call granted it. B. A. Thrasher, attorney for the state; Evans Haile and Robert E. Davis, for the dealers, all of Gainesville.

The Gainesville Sun, in referring to the above case from Alachua county, argued before Judge Call in Jacksonville last Friday, says:

"Judge Call, of the Jacksonville circuit, has granted the petition of the liquor dealers of Alachua county to intervene and be made parties defendant in the case of the state vs. the board of county commissioners of this county, wherein the latter were enjoined from issuing permits to the liquor men. Messrs. Evans Haile, J. A. Carlisle and R. E. Davis represent the liquor men, and B. A. Thrasher and Attorney-General Lamar the state, or rather the temperance people of Gainesville.

"The saloon men contend that this decision of Judge Call virtually gives them the battle, as the same grounds exist today for contesting the wet or dry election of 1897 as existed in 1899, when Judge Finley declared the election invalid, the papers in which decision are said to have been receipted for by Col. Thrasher when he represented the liquor men in contesting the election of a year or so after the election of 1897 had been declared illegally held. It is now said, however, that Col. Thrasher says he does not know where these papers are. The saloon men contend that if these papers were produced the case of Col. Thrasher and his clients would fall of itself."
